

Consistent themes

Lack of awareness and limited access perpetuate inequities

People and organizations are operating in isolation

Housing-related crises are often caused by other crises

This systemic challenge requires leadership and resources

Recommendations

Strengthen education and communication systems

Map and share processes and paths to success in creative, dynamic, culturally relevant ways to help community members find greater success.

Build coordinated, cross-sector partnerships

The complex, cross-sector nature of this challenge requires a coordinated, collaborative, solutions-focused approach that leverages the talents and resources of the entire community.

Commit to bold, systemic leadership

Community leaders can address underlying systems rather than symptoms, championing strategic policies and investments that promote long-term security for the region.
