Summit County Office of Consumers Affairs presents a Free Seminar Open to the Public During National Consumer Protection Week (March 4 -10)

On Tuesday, March 6, 2018, Summit County Executive Ilene Shapiro’s Office of Consumer Affairs will hold a free seminar open to the public titled “How to Spot and Stop a Scam”. Residents will learn how to protect themselves and their families from common scams. The event will take place from 11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. at the Shaw Jewish Community Center of Akron. The Shaw JCC is located at 750 White Pond Drive.

Consumer Protection Week (March 4 - 10) is a nationally coordinated campaign to inform consumers about their rights and to learn about ways to make better informed decision about money management and how to avoid common scams.

“The Summit County Office of Consumer Affairs is pleased to participate in National Consumer Protection Week and have the opportunity to educate residents in common sense ways to avoid consumer-related scams,” said Chris Verich, Deputy Director of Consumer Affairs.

For more information on National Consumer Protection Week and the March 6th event contact the Office of Consumer Affairs at 330-643-2879, or visit consumeraffairs.summitoh.net.
