Man sentenced to four years for fraudulently obtaining records

(July 14, 2009, Akron) ... Prosecutor Sherri Bevan Walsh announced today that Lewis Leroy McIntyre, 42, of Akron, was sentenced to four years by Judge Alison McCarty for Tampering with Records (with a special finding because they were government records) and Tampering with Evidence, Obstructing Justice, and Theft. McIntyre was found guilty of these crimes on July 10, 2009.

On December 1, 2008, the defendant went into the Municipal Clerk of Courts Office in order to fraudulently obtain files. McIntyre portrayed himself as an officer of the court by showing a badge when he asked for the files.

The files were discovered in the home of someone that McIntyre knew and they called the Municipal Clerk's office to report them. The files were retrieved and the matter was turned over to the Akron Police Department.
